Golden Wedding Celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Adams celebrated their golden wedding at the Town Hall Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Adams were former residents of this town, living here the greater part of their married life, and they anticipated coming back to their old farm at North Concord to celebrate their anniversary among their old friends and neighbors. The old house was burned eight years ago, but a basket picnic was to have been enjoyed on the grounds, had not the heavy down pour of rain changed all plans, and it was decided to hold the festivities in the Town Hall with a picnic dinner. Jonathan Adams and Elizabeth Babcock. both of Waterford, were married July 26, 1857, by Rev. L. H. Tabor, in the house now occupied by Alvah Belden. The bride was a girl of 16 and the groom a boy of 17 years. They spent the first few years of their life in Concord, Waterford, and Glover. Coming back to Concord they lived in a little log house at North Concord, later building the good home that was destroyed by fire June 11, 1899, after which they moved to Cambridgeport, their present home. Thirteen children were born to them, nine of whom are living: Hannah (Mrs. George Bradley,) of St. Johnsbury Hubert J., who died at 16 years of age Lizzie, who died at the age of four months; Roxana J., (Mrs. W. E. Underwood) of Santa Cruz, Cal.; Orange S. of Fargo, N. D.; George A., of Santa Clara, Cal.; Clinton N., of Seekonk, Mass.; Albert, who died at 21 years of age; Charles Gilbert of Represa, Cal.; Sadie, (Mrs. O. S. Roberts) of Montpelier; Henry F., who died at the age of 11 months; Bessie, (Mrs. Elbert Blodgett) of Waterford, and May Adams of Bellows Falls. Only two of the children were able to be present, Mrs. Roberts of Montpelier, and Mrs. Blodgett of Waterford. There were four grandchildren present and one great grandchild, Alberta Isabel Pierce, 6 months old, of St. Johnsbury Centre. Mrs. Blodgett made a beautiful wedding cake, bearing the dates 1857-1907. They received a purse of $25 from their many friends present. Each one inscribed his name in a guest book, and as a souvenir of the occasion received a photo of the bride and groom of 50 years ago, together with one as they now appear. It was a very pleasant occasion and their many friends hope they will live to

A Delightful Musicale. The musicale given by the ladies of the Universalist church for the month of July, was given at the town hall Saturday evening, and was a very high class concert. Those taking part were Miss Cleona Tatro of Chicago, Prof. Harry H May, Miss Winifred Walbridge, Mrs. C.-H. Miltimore, Miss Eugenia Scott and Master Claude Miltimore. The violin playing by Miss Tatro and the piano playing by Miss Walbridge were especially brilliant, and Mr. May was never heard to better advantage than in his aria, "Infelice," from the opera "Ernani." The piano playing by Miss Scott, and the singing by Master Claude Miltimore, were full of promise, and the accompaniments played by Mrs. Miltimore were very pleasantly rendered. The piano duet and trio were among the most pleasing numbers on the program. The hall was well filled with an appreciative audience. After the concert Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Forsaith entertained the participants

Oldest Vermont Veteran.

The only surviving veteran of the Mexican War in Vermont is claimed by this town in the person of John Merrill Goodwin who reached the age of 87 Sunday. He is in full possession of his faculties and apparently likely to round out the century. Mr. Goodwin is a native of Ryegate. His father, born in 1794, lived a few months over a century. Mr. Goodwin's grandfather was one of the early settlers of Ryegate. He thought the Mexican War offered a good chance to see the country, something for which he had been saving his money. His four great grandfathers had served in the Revolutionary War, and his father in the War of 1812, being wounded at Lundy's Lane. Mr. Goodwin was early made a corporal and was promoted to Sergeant for gallantry. He refused a commission as lieutenant. He participated in the battles of Contreras, Cherubusco and Molins delle Ray. In the taking of Castle Chapultepec he was the first man over the castle wall and this won him his promotion. At the close of the war his captain, going home by land, Sergeant Goodwin had charge of his company from Vera Cruz to Newport. He had a chance to take a wagon train through to Cali-fornia instead of coming home, but gold had not then been discovered and he disease; and Ayer's Hair Vigor, declined the oner. After visiting about home he began to make plans for going to California, but met and soon married an attractive young woman and thus barely escaped becoming a forty-niner. After his marriage he went to Massachusetts and was living in Boston when the Civil War broke out. Governor Andrew offered him a commission, but the examining surgeon refused to pass him, and thus ended his dream of further military glory. The examining surgeon is dead, but Mr. Goodwin lives to tell the story.

Death of John C. Barker.

Mr. Barker, well known in this vicinity, died at his home in Hartford, Conn., July 21, of heart failure. When he became of age he went to Hartford and worked in a saw mill, which he afterwards bought, and carried on the lumber business for many years. When the Charter Oak fell, in 1856, the wood was taken to Mr. Barker's mill, and there worked up into a great variety of articles. He also dealt extensively in produce, and during many years bought He held several city offices, and was long a member of the First Baptist church. Mr. Barker retired from business about butter in Ryegate, Groton and Newbury. 20 years ago, and purchased a beautiful estate on Wethersfield avenue, where he devoted much time to gardening, and dispensed a delightful hospitality. He is survived by his widow, who was a daughter of Thomas Henry of Scotland and Newbury, and by two sons and a daughter, who are all married and settled near him. Mr. Barker was identified with many business interests in church Sunday morning and delivered a Hartford, and was a man of very winning personality, with the power of making and retaining friends. F.
